Tweedle Deanna strikes again.

I moved her words around so they are readable in the screen shot capture.

If the screen shot it too wide, text shrinks significantly.

I wanted this text absolutely clear.

Yes, It Was Horrenodous

in reply to "Many of my family live in El Paso county." and reported all over the news....including one fellow died by falling off of a bridge they said..... The masses were the masses....our relatives said the sat in the parking lot for one hour, before they noticed that another gate was opened for the buses to go out...so, they thought they would try that and wah la they got out...they said once they hit I-25 all went well.....☺

"Eye opening for certain" the mayjem Obama cause when he was at the Air Force Academy???

My, my.....LOL

can i use any picture on the internet

The person killed from the bridge fall wasn't on the same day as the NHL hockey game at the AFA.

We had a late night, early morning ice and snow storm, and he was on his way to work before the AFA called it a snow day and closed. That was a separate, unrelated event on a different day, a few days after the hockey game.

Holding an NHL game there is an unbelievably stupid idea.

To get on the AFA campus for non military personnel, you are directed to a building where you park, and go in to begin the procedure. They photograph your ID and you, while you fill out a questionnaire detailing why you're there, where you're going, and how long you will be there. Every person in the vehicle must do this. It normally takes 20 to 30 minutes. Multiply that times the 15,000 or so attending a NHL game, and you have a recipe for exactly what happened. Many people with tickets didn't see the game at all because they never got through security in time. Others missed one or two complete periods. Some were stuck in traffic and didn't even reach the security gates before the game was over and people were exiting! This has to rank among the dumbest of dumb ideas I know about.

Getting out of the hockey game wasn't the problem. It was getting IN.

THAT's where the traffic nightmare was because of the demand for ID to get onto the campus! Furthermore the stadium is right off I-25, perfectly visible from the road. Once out of the stadium parking lot, you're home free.

Third, there was no traffic snarl or snafu with the Obama appearance at AFA.

None at all. Only a brief slowdown on N and S bound I-25 around the south AFA exit, not because of Obama but due to road construction that's been ongoing there for months.

Then there is a third screenshot capture I didn't pursue, about jobs. How funny an 80 year old human parrot with dementia atop lifelong retardation writes about jobs.

In fact, Trump is more than a million jobs behind Obama measured in the same 36 month period.

Presidents don't create jobs, but their decisions can affect job creation. Obama signed legislation that provided businesses with incentive to create more jobs based on consumer demand and confidence. Trump cut taxes for the 1%.. and we're back to the $1.3 trillion deficit Obama began with.

Tweedle Deanna is such a LIAR. Just like Trump. She is too stupid to know how stupid she really is. In fact I'll suggest when she dies, she will be too stupid to know she's dead.

If there are others like her in her family who died, they're probably out there walking around because they too are too stupid to know they're dead, and other people can't tell the dead ones apart from the live ones.

I imagine he considers that erudite. But that level of projection is something of an accomplishment in and of itself, really. So there's that.

After all the talk here, I popped in over there for the first time in months. I was astonished at how little activity there is! There are posts from the 12th still on the front page...on the 22nd. Only eight different posters (one of whom, Gandalf, was received with "long time, no see" comments). They really have managed to kill off that forum, haven't they?

Lately I practice a keep friends close and enemies closer model.
I saw the drop in activity there at CPD, and why.

In a way it reflects how the world will treat and regard America if we re-elect Trump. The White board embrace of Trump and the enforced quarantine as if infected with contagious disease is no coincidence. Most people want nothing to do with the attitude driving them both. Erudition is benevolent and neither Mondo nor Trump are anything close. You know I attended the Trump rally, and now, two days later, the most compelling moment of the night was when Trump brought up Greta Thunberg and whipped the crowd into their LOCK HER UP chant. Lock her up. A child. For what? Being precocious and outspoken about a passion? It reminded me of the historic examples in Germany and Cambodia where intellectual edification was sent to the grave as a threat.

WOW... Chanting "lock her up" about Greta Thunberg ??? WTF ???

It really says a lot about folks who want to lock up political opposition. It also makes me wonder if many of them even know who Greta is ???

Of course, his idiot cohorts on the blew bode don't have a clue what I am challenging him to do. They wouldn't know Jack about Classical Music. I might know more than PikeyPoo. All they know is proolly Barry Manilow. Sia is dumb as a box of rocks, but she has nice kids.

Now I know the first is considered one of Beethoven's most important works, and that the second gives "nodd" to the first, and the last is considered Shuberts most challenging work (I think). But WTF? More with the personal intel?

He's just hoping to get some activity going, particularly after Pikes straight up called his board DEAD on R&E yesterday. LOL.

Too bad he just keeps giving Pikes MORE EVIDENCE against him. He can delete his posts, but he cannot erase them from "web archives - go back machine" where most everything is saved for his trial for stalking and libeling Pikes.

<https://mb.boardhost.com/MondoFuego/msg/1582>

I find is absolutely hysterical that mongo thinks that HE knows more than a professional concert pianist who studied at Julliard.

Did you see my HAPPY BIRTHDAY TRISH posts ??
